TEAMWORK--Parents from the Woodstock Elementary School spent much of the weekend reshingling the 35-year-old roof on the Rogers Hall dining and meeting building at the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond. The volunteer work was a swap for a week-long program that the school will hold for WES classes beginning May 31. The roofing was only the initial step in what organizers hope will be a continuing partnership between the conservation school and SAD44 elementary schools. Charlie Reiss of Bryant Pond, who served as strawboss Saturday, said that organizers hope to eventually have natural-resource inventories for each of the schools and on-site nature trails. Left, Paul Beaton works along the roof edge while other volunteers tackle the kitchen roof in the background. The volunteers helping out with the project included Emily Ecker, Jim Miclon, Marie Hinkley, Ron and Rick Savage, Don Lawrence (hauling the shingles above), teacher Jean Gardner, Kevin Russell, Tom Gallagher, Charlie Reiss, Sue Rosenberg, Pat Whitman, Monica Mann, Pam Moody and Cathy Galdis. In addition, Ernie Nieberle of Bryant Pond spent hours bulldozing snow to make the site accessible, and Bob Lowell of Western Maine Supply in Bethel cajoled suppliers into providing nearly all of the $1,300 worth of materials needed for the job.

TMS OMers take Maine state title

Next step is to Iowa, if they can raise the money

By WENDY HANSCOM

Telstar Middle Schoolers will travel to Iowa State University in June to compete in the Odyssey of the Mind world competition.

The middle school team won first place at the state OM tournament Saturday, at the University of Maine in Orono.

The team also received a rare OM "Rantra Fusca" award for their exceptional creativity in presenting their long-term problem solution of relating a scene from the "Iliad" to a twentieth century event.

The team's dialogue, music, theme and background scenery were all mentioned as being outstanding, according to the team's coach.

Team members are: Laurie Young, Martha Grover, Teri Chadbourne, Michelle McInnis, Katie Chapman and Caitlin Bass.

The team has worked together after regular school hours for the past five months.

"They have put in many long hours, late afternoons and school vacation days to reach their goals," said Donna Richard, who along with Jean Bass coaches the team.

Both coaches commended the team on their "high level of personal commitment and work ethic in reaching the level of success the team has accomplished."

The next challenge for the OMers will be to raise enough funds to travel to the world competition in Iowa.

Team coaches predict travel, and room and board for the team will cost approximately $3,800.

A number of fundraisers are already being planned for late April and May.

Anyone interested in supporting the team can contact the Telstar Middle School or the team's coaches.

Bethel Historic Preservation Commission is proposed

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A group of Bethel residents is proposing that the town establish an Historic Preservation Commission to review any future development in the Bethel Historic District.

Stan Howe, director of the Bethel Historical Society, and members of the society's preservation commission are at work on a draft amendment to the town's site plan review ordinance that would define a role for such a review board.

"It's still very much in the formative stages," said Howe. "Our goal is to see if we can come up with something that is acceptable to the town."

Planning Board member Don Feeney has worked with the committee on drafting the proposal. Feeney said he thought there was "room for a positive move here, a move that would protect the district and homeowners, while still respecting landowner rights."

But Feeney said he could not yet endorse the draft, and that he would not endorse any draft amendment that was, in his view, either too tight in its specifications or too broad in its applicability.

Nonetheless, Feeney said, he thought a commission to review development proposals in the district and to make recommendations (not rulings) to the Planning Board was a good way to approach protecting the district.

The Bethel Historic District, which was listed in 1977 on the National Register of Historic Places, includes all of Broad Street and the town common.

In 1990 the historic designation was extended down Church Street as far as Gould Academy's Gehring and Hanscom halls. "The Park," the neighborhood behind the Congregational and Nazarene churches was added to the district at the same time.

The historic designation, however, does not carry with it any increased local control over development in the area -- beyond that contained in the townwide development regulations.

Potential residents sought for independent living center

By WENDY HANSCOM

A community study has shown that there may be a need in the Bethel area for an independent living center for the elderly, and now study backers are looking for names to match the market-survey results.

The Community Retirement Living Committee has spent more than a year researching the feasibility of developing an assisted living complex in Bethel.

Committee members say such a complex would help people who no longer want to maintain their own home keep their independence, by

Budget committee signs off on FY'95 totals

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Budget Committee and the town selectmen are in general agreement on a municipal budget for the coming year, but the Budget Committee still wants to hold the budget increase to roughly half that sought by the selectmen.

The Budget Committee, which wrapped up its review last week, went along with all of the recommendations in the selectmen's draft budget, except three items -- a Capital Improvement Program allocation of $60,000 for a new dump-truck, $2,250 in Planning Board stipends, and $500 for beautification.

The selectmen's budget draft requested a total of $1,288,439 for town expenses in the coming year; the budget committee's recommendation is that the town spend $1,225,689.

The town's municipal budget (not including school and county taxes) for the current year is $1,171,544. The selectmen's request for FY 1995 would have meant an increase of just under 10 percent; the Budget Committee's recommendation cuts that increase to less than 5 percent.

Last year the Budget Committee recommended spending $82,000 less than the selectmen, and Town Meeting voters overwhelmingly opted to go along with the lower level of funding.

The increase, as recommended by the selectmen, was accounted for by an additional $38,265 in money to be set aside in the CIP, $25,000 in debt service for Phase 3 of the Downtown Revitalization Project; $20,000 for increased tipping fees; $7,500 for sand and gravel; and $6,500 to extend the hours of the town's professional assessor.

The Budget Committee has concurred with all of these increases except the CIP hike. Rather than increase the capital set-aside, the budgeters recommend reducing this year's figure by $21,735 (to $95,465). The difference represents the $60,000 it would take to replace the town's 1980 dump truck with a new truck and new plowing and sanding gear.

The budgeters also voted against paying stipends to members of the Planning Board (the selectmen had requested $250 annual stipends), and they voted to contribute $250 (rather than the $750 suggested by the selectmen) for the purchase of flowers by the garden club.

Pay increases for town employees (the first increase for most of them in three years) were also included in

Land transfer

West Paris will be ready -- if W'stock offers

By WENDY HANSCOM

West Paris officials moved quickly last week when they heard Woodstock might be willing to give up 55 acres of land to their neighbors to the south.

But Woodstock Town Manager Vern Maxfield said a lot of research on the proposal is needed before Woodstock residents are asked vote on the turnover.

Maxfield proposed to Woodstock selectmen last week that the town turn over approximately 55 acres in the extreme southeast corner of town to West Paris. The parcel of land is located near the Woodstock/West Paris/Summer border on the Estes Road.

The tract of land is accessible only by the Biron Road in Summer, according to West Paris selectman Wade Rainey. There are six landowners in the area and two homeowners, Rainey said -- one with land in Woodstock but a home in West Paris, and the other house is in Woodstock.

Michael and Lisa Hurst own the house that's in Woodstock. Their two children already attend SAD17 schools. Lisa said she welcomes the idea of living in West Paris.

"It would make it easier for us," she said. "The road we live on is discontinued into Woodstock. We have to go the roundabout way to the (Woodstock) Town Office and dump. It's a 20-minute drive."

Maxfield told Woodstock selectmen last week that he wanted to research interest in the land turnover. The board agreed a letter regarding the proposal should be sent to the West Paris selectmen.

Maxfield has yet to send the let-

JOIN US AT THE COFFEEHOUSE

To the Editor:

I especially enjoyed the wonderful and witty music of David Dobson at the recent Just Imagine Coffeehouse here in Bethel in the basement of the Congregational Church. Of course, I can't really describe how much fun it was to hear this very gifted performer. You had to be there. And that is my point. It made me sad that there was not a larger audience present.

As a member of the Just Imagine Coffeehouse committee and a singer myself, I really wish that more people would take advantage of what we are offering: live entertainment from here and away suitable for families in a smoke- and alcohol-free environment. I hope you will plan to attend our last coffeehouse of the season on May 7 at 7 p.m. Help support our efforts and enjoy the music of local singer-songwriters, Julia Anderson and Joe Clark. Call me if you have any questions or wish to perform. We are now wheelchair accessible. New committee members are always welcome--as are donations of baked goods to serve at the coffeehouse. My phone number is 824-4091.

A TRIBUTE TO BOB CROCKETT

To the Editor:

There is a phrase used by military pilots that conveys deep respect. "He can fly on my wing anytime." In formation flying your wingman stays in position no matter what your move. Any misce on his part can be disastrous.

Taken generally it means you have an absolute faith in that person's dependability. When things are the roughest, that's who you want next to you.

It is important to me that others know it would have been an honor to have Bob Crockett on my wing anytime.

allowing them to stay in the community and out of a nursing home.

The housing facility would probably provide retirees the option of a fully independent living unit or an assisted-living unit.

Independent living units would be one- or two-bedroom apartments and offer security, outside maintenance, one communal meal a day, help with heavy cleaning, laundry, transportation and organized activities.

Those living in assisted units would receive the same services plus medical supervision, three meals a day, and help with daily tasks of living, such as bathing and dressing.

"The facility would be used by people who do most of their personal care themselves," said committee member Jean Bass. "but are ready to free themselves up from home maintenance -- shoveling snow, worrying about the furnace. People who still are independent, but are ready to give up some of the responsibilities of maintaining their own structure."

The committee's market research indicates that the greater-Bethel area could support up to a 20-unit complex, Bass said.

"The direct market survey indicated that there is definite interest," Bass said, "now we need to find the names behind the statistics."

The cost of living in this type of elderly housing varies greatly depending on location, number of services offered and payment packages offered, Bass said.

"For most people who have owned a home and have worked this is possible," she said.

The committee is asking anyone who thinks they might be interested in living in this type of retirement community to contact the committee.

If enough people express interest, the committee will begin researching the best way to get the facility built.

The committee is also conducting a preliminary search of possible building sites, preferably within reasonable walking distance of the Bethel village.

Committee members are Bass, Walter Hatch, Gwyneth Bohr, Dutch Dresser, Mary Lou Fiske, Frances Harding, Carol Hatch, David Hawkes, Ed Hitchcock, George Larson, Jan Stowell, Dexter Stowell, Mary Valentine, Peggy Wight and Lindley Wieden.

Bass' phone number is 824-2653. Hatch can be reached at 824-5560.

THE PARK, below Church Street is part of the Bethel Historic District, and any development there would be reviewed by the proposed town historic preservation commission. The Bethel Planning Board is expected to discuss the idea tonight (Wednesday), but sponsor Stan Howe said the proposal still has a long way to go before being ready to present to voters.

Historic district

The exception is projects involving federal funds. These projects must be approved by the Maine Historic Preservation Commission.

According to Howe, such a review in 1990 was a factor (along with wetlands considerations) in the decision to halve the number of units in Bethel Park Apartments -- from the 48 originally proposed, to the 24 that were eventually constructed.

Howe said he doesn't feel the historic district is under any imminent threat of development, but with the growth of the recreation and tourism industry in the area "radical changes can occur, and we need to maintain as much of the historic fabric of the area as possible -- that's what attracts people here in the first place."

He said the current attempt at establishing some form of protection for the district was not a response to the Bethel Station project, part of which will be situated across Railroad Street, at the foot of Church Street.

Howe said he hopes to have an article establishing such a commission on the warrant for Bethel's annual Town Meeting in June.

He stressed, however, that the form of the article was still quite tentative and the specifications would no doubt evolve between now and June.

The proposal is expected to be discussed at tonight's (Wednesday's) meeting of the Bethel Planning Board.

ter, but West Paris selectmen have already scheduled a public hearing and vote on the proposal. Maxfield's proposal to the selectmen was reported in an issue of the Lewiston Sun-Journal last week.

The land turnover would have to be approved by both towns and the state Legislature.

"We're interested in it," Rainey said. "We're going to get our part all done."

But Maxfield said Woodstock selectmen don't plan to hold any public debate or vote on the issue until next year's annual Town Meeting.

"I spoke with Wade Rainey briefly about it some time ago," Maxfield said. "He seemed quite agreeable to it. I haven't put the proposal in writing, and we haven't figured out how much tax assessment it would cost us. These folks do what they can do for business in West Paris and we thought West Paris could serve them better than we can."

Maxfield said giving the land to West Paris would make both towns' tax maps easier to work with, and Rainey agreed.

Property taxes to the six or so landowners involved would probably go down if the land turnover was approved.

Woodstock's current mil rate is 17.9 and West Paris' is 10.7.

SAD44

Budget discussions continue tonight

By WENDY HANSKOM

The SAD44 Board of Directors considered a number of cuts Wednesday to the district's proposed $6,992,175 budget.

The board also discussed recommending to district voters that they fund the NOVA budget at the same level as last year. SAD44's share of the NOVA budget is up approximately $38,000, according to board chairman Margaret Hand, who is also on the NOVA board.

"NOVA increases its budget year after year," Hand said, "while year after year we cut ours back. NOVA is up $38,000 this year. That (would pay for) a teacher in this district. My recommendation to the board is that we recommend funding them at the same level as last year. I think we should recommend it to the voters. I think the board should look at all places to cut and not just our own backyard."

In order for SAD44 to escape paying the NOVA increase, however, Superintendent Ronald Jenkins said the two other NOVA-member districts would also need to vote to just fund NOVA at last year's level.

NOVA director Dewaine Craig presented his budget to the board Monday evening, but directors asked only a few questions.

Superintendent lists cuts

Superintendent Jenkins read the directors a list of likely cuts to the budget that he and administrators had discussed. But he said he and the administrators did not necessarily support the cuts.

The directors decided they would like more information on the following possible cuts.

- $20,000 cut from the curriculum improvement program.
- $35,000 by eliminating a Telstar guidance counselor.
- $40,000 by restructuring administration at the Telstar complex, possibly eliminating one administrator.
- $13,000 by not buying two-way radios for the district's bus fleet.
- $13,000 by eliminating half a transportation worker.
- $6,000 cut from the Adult Ed. program.
- $15,000 cut from discretionary accounts.
- $5,000 cut from the district's athletic program.

Other cuts

Board members also suggested the following cuts.

- $5,000 from the district's phone bill.
 - cutting the Andover Elementary School secretary from full- to part-time.
- Possible additions
- The directors also said they were willing to consider a few additions to the FY '95 budget, including:
- $2,000 more to the Mahosuc Arts Council.
 - a study of more funds going toward the district's art and music programs.
 - reinstating the Elementary Gifted and Talented Program.
 - creating an in-house suspension program that would include hiring someone to tutor the suspended students.
 - hiring a computer technician to oversee the district's computer systems.
 - hiring a full-time certified librarian.
- Directors plan to discuss the pros and cons of these proposals at tonight's (Wednesday) budget workshop at 7 p.m. at Telstar High School.

New committee to look at 6th-grade location

By WENDY HANSKOM

An ad hoc committee will study where SAD44 sixth-graders should attend school next year.

The district's Board of Directors voted unanimously Monday evening to charge the committee with studying the placement of all sixth-graders in SAD44.

In recent weeks the board has discussed moving Andover sixth-graders to Telstar Middle School, moving all the district's sixth-graders to the expanded Crescent Park School or returning all sixth-graders to their home elementary schools.

But any action was put on hold until the committee reports back to the school board. So far, no timetable for that report has been established.

The committee will probably include an elementary administrator, board members, PTA members from all three elementary schools, a middle school administrator and elementary and middle school teachers.

Principal decision tabled

The board has also put off any discussion on administration of the Andover and Woodstock elementary schools.

Superintendent Ronald Jenkins told the board at last week's budget workshop that he will recommend teaching principals for each school.

The positions may be combined with teaching, guidance or some other duty at the schools to keep the administrator in the building full-time, he said.

Jenkins said he plans to have a proposal at the next regular board meeting, on April 25.

Lighting changes

The district will participate in a Central Maine Power program to install more energy-efficient lighting at AES, WES, the Telstar complex and the bus garage.

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

Historical connections between the Ohio city of Cleveland and the Town of Bethel was the featured topic at the April monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society last Thursday evening.

Society Director Stanley R. Howe made a presentation which detailed a number of individuals including Liberty Holden (1833-1913), Gould Academy graduate, class of 1853, who made a fortune in Cleveland and the West and later became the first major benefactor of Gould Academy; Dr. John George Gehring (1857-1932), a Cleveland native, who founded a nationally famous clinic in Bethel; William Bingham II (1879-1953), who came from Cleveland to Bethel seeking treatment for his nervous disorder at Dr. Gehring's clinic and became the town's and Gould Academy's most important benefactor.

Howe also noted Dr. George Farnsworth, son of Mrs. Gehring, also practiced medicine in Cleveland prior to becoming William Bingham's chief adviser and a trustee of Gould Academy. Bingham's two sisters, Frances Payne Bolton and Elizabeth Blossom contributed to the building of Bingham Hall at Gould Academy in 1963. They retained their lifelong association with Cleveland. When Severance Hall was built in Cleveland in the 1930s to house the Cleveland Symphony, Ernest Skinner (1866-1960), a nationally famous organ maker, who married a Bethel woman (Mabel Hastings) and was later buried in Woodland Cemetery, was selected to install the organ.

In the early years of the 20th century Gould Academy usually had several students, according to the annual catalogs, from Cleveland. Visitors came to Bethel from Cleveland, usually to visit the Gehrings, but were often listed in the local paper as presenting lectures or concerts for Bethel audiences. Persons with Cleveland connections exerted much influence upon Bethel, particularly in the 20th century; in at least one instance (Liberty Holden), one man with ties to Bethel has made important contributions to Cleveland, including ownership of the "Plain Dealer" and heading the committee which raised funds to build the Cleveland Art Museum.

During the business portion of the meeting, Walter Hatch, society vice-president, who presided in the absence of the president, announced that the next meeting would be held on May 5 and feature a history of the Oxford County Jail by Sheriff Lloyd C. Herrick.

Those present were reminded that the Bethel Historical Society would be hosting the spring meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies which would be meeting at the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room at 1 p.m. with Beverly H. Kallgren, co-editor of the book, "Dear Friend Anna: The Civil War Letters of a Common Soldier from Maine," published by the University of Maine Press, as speaker. Anyone interested in attending the meeting was urged to do so.

Mr. Hatch called attention to the new addition to the society's museum store, Dr. True's "History of Bethel," edited by Bethel Historical Society Curator of Collections Randall H. Bennett. The vice-president also reminded those present that the society would hold a genealogical seminar on April 30 with Stephen T. Seames discussing a wide variety of topics. Fees are $8 for members, $10 for non-members for the afternoon session (1 to 4 p.m.) and each registrant will receive an information packet.

The "Gift of the Month" was a book, "Union in Diversity: The Story of Our Marriage," by Dorothy Clarke Wilson from the author whose husband was a native of Bethel; the book includes several photos and references to Bethel. Mr. Hatch expressed the society's gratitude for Mrs. Wilson's thoughtfulness in making this gift to the society's collection.

A social hour and refreshments followed the program.

LOOKING BACK

10 years ago: President Jeri Brooks was guest of honor at a testimonial banquet at Sunday River Skiway with about 200 Legion and Auxiliary members present. Muriel Faudi and Ethel Ward were given special recognition for service and for performing outstanding duties for the Bethel Methodist Church by Lyndell Carter, president of the United Methodist Women. Alva Morrison, of the Headwaters Alliance of the Sunday River area, announced support of a low-level waste referendum which would insure that the voters of Maine would have the chance to approve or reject any plan proposed by the State Legislature for disposal or storage of low-level radioactive waste. Deaths: Maurice Beaupre, Christine Grover, Rena Bacon.

The board reelected Margaret Hand of Woodstock as chairman Monday. She was opposed by Merton Brown of Bethel. The weighted vote was 313 for Brown, and 558 for Hand.

Brad Thibodeau of Andover will serve as vice chairman and John Brown of Bethel as vice chair pro tempore for the next year.

Briefly

Code enforcement officer resigns

GREENWOOD--Code enforcement officer Sam Timberlake has resigned. Timberlake's resignation is effective as of May 1, according to selectman Marie Bartlett. Timberlake cited family and business obligations as his reason for resigning, Bartlett said. The town has begun searching for a new CEO, she said.

Timberlake also resigned last week as the CEO for Gilead and West Paris.

Ski resort to boost recycling

NEWRY--Sunday River Ski Resort plans to move away from recycling independently and join more fully in Newry's recycling program. The resort already independently recycles copper and aluminum wire, scrap metal, cooking oil, waste fuel and food scraps. But resort officials have pledged to beef up their effort by collecting tin and aluminum cans and returnable bottles and taking them to Newry collection bins.

The resort also recycles tons of cardboard each year, which cuts disposal costs to the town. Town officials expect to pay $119,430 this year for trash removal. The ski resort generates about 70 percent of the town's trash.

Selectmen have new chair

WOODSTOCK--Leon Poland will serve as chairman of the Woodstock Board of Selectmen for the coming year. Poland replaces Percy Monk, who was recently reelected to the board for a three year term. Woodstock other selectman is Michael Nadeau. The town's selectmen take turns serving as chair, each holding the job for a one-year term.

Loan bid letters go out to banks

ANDOVER--Selectmen agreed last week to send tax anticipation note bid solicitation letters to Key Bank, Fleet Bank and Franklin Savings Bank. Selectmen are looking for the bank offering the lowest loan interest rate to extend a line of credit to cover municipal operating expenses before property taxes come in. Andover bills property owners in October.

Planning board elects officers

NEWRY--The town's planning board elected officers Wednesday for the coming year. Don Sandstrom was reelected as chairman. Mike Lynch will serve as vice-chair and Brian Hanscom as secretary. David Walker has been appointed as an alternate to the board. He replaces Kathi Schandelmier. Lynch was moved from alternate to regular member.

Forest council listens to Berlin views

BERLIN, N.H.--Approximately 150 people attended a Northern Forest Lands Council listening session on its draft of recommendations on future policies of ownership and use of the region's forests last week at Berlin City Hall. A similar session was held last month in Bethel.

Officials from Berlin and surrounding towns expressed concerns for the economic impact of the plan, including possible jobs lost in the woodland products industry, loss of land for public use, its impact on tourism and loss of their property tax base.

Environmentalists, who were primarily represented by members of the Appalachian Mountain Club, said they support many of NFLC's draft recommendations, but called for stronger action at the local, state and federal levels regarding public policies for protected areas and funding for acquisition of those areas.

Animal control officer wanted

GILEAD--Selectmen will soon appoint an animal control officer. The state has advised the town that not having an animal control officer puts the town in violation of the state's animal welfare law. The officer would be responsible for licensing dogs and other duties. Gilead has not had an ACO for the past three years.

Milton named to IF&W council

TOWNSHIP C--Lakewood Camps owner Stan Hamlin has been named to the Advisory Council on Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. The state senate recently confirmed his council seat. Milton operates a sporting camp on lower Richardson Lake.

Committee, board members needed

WEST PARIS--Town selectmen are searching for volunteers to serve on the following boards and committees: Emergency Management Agency, Library Board of Directors, Assessors Review Board, Planning Board, Board of Appeals, General Assistance Fair Hearing Board, Fence Viewers, West Paris Athletic Association and the Budget Committee. Selectmen said they are hoping some of the town's younger residents will express in serving on the boards and committees.

Sheriff to get briefing on crime bill

Oxford County Sheriff Skip Herrick will attend three days of briefings on the $15 billion crime bill being taken up by the U.S. House of Representatives beginning Wednesday in Washington, D.C.

Herrick and other law enforcement officers from around the country will meet with U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno and other Clinton Administration officials to get details on the package.

Rumford democrat to run for sheriff

RUMFORD--Democrat Craig Bryant of Waldo Street has announced he will run against Republican incumbent sheriff Lloyd "Skip" Herrick in November's election. Bryant is running unopposed in the primaries, he said. Bryant, 54, served on the Rumford Police Department for 12 years before leaving the to go into the moving and storage business. Bryant ran unsuccessfully for sheriff in 1976, he said. Bryant has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from the University of Maine.

From the Bethel Police log:

Trouble with rock throwing juveniles, a bar fight, and burning newspapers

Saturday, April 9, Bethel police assisted Oxford County deputies at a report of four juveniles throwing rocks at cars in Albany.

Police assisted sheriff's deputies again that evening in Newry. The two departments responded to a report of 15 people fighting in the Bumps Pub parking lot. When Bethel police arrived the people involved had quieted down.

Monday, April 10 a patrolling officer extinguished newspapers burning in a snowbank on Elm Street. Police checked the area, but found no one suspicious.

Also in recent police news, on Thursday, April 7 a black dog with a white spot on his neck was reported missing in the High Street area. Sunday, April 3, an Intervale Road homeowner reported that a renter had stolen $4,395 worth of home furnishings, including camera and projection equipment, art supplies, jewelry, tools and more.

Also on April 3, a Big Apple employee reported that two apparently intoxicated subjects had entered the store. Police responded and advised the two men not to drive. The subjects left on foot, but were later observed driving on Route 2. Paul K. Petersen, 23, of Westbrook was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of an intoxicant.

3 Rumford boys face theft charges

By WENDY HANSCOM

Three Rumford 16-year-old males were taken into custody last week on the Northwest Bethel Road in Bethel.

The three were questioned regarding the theft of three guns and 500 rounds of ammunition from an Albany residence.

The theft was reported Thursday by an Albany homeowner who told State Police that the ammunition and three .22-caliber semi-automatic rifles had been stolen from his home.

The following day, Bethel police received a report of three juveniles with firearms walking down the Northwest Bethel Road.

Police Chief Dale Bellman located the trio and asked them to put down the weapons. The juveniles put down the rifles. One juvenile told Bellman his gun was loaded.

Bellman had called for backup, and an Oxford County deputy and state trooper arrived to assist.

The three boys were taken into custody and transported to the Bethel Police Office for questioning.

One of the juveniles admitted to stealing the weapons, Bellman said.

Juvenile intake workers will determine what the three boys may be charged with.

Bethel police plan to charge one juvenile with possessing a loaded firearm on a public way, Bellman said.

Two of the teenagers were released into the custody of their parents and the third, who was recently released from a youth detention center, was returned to the center.

the selectmen's budget, but the Budget Committee has no review authority over salaries and benefits.

The pay increases accounted for approximately $14,500 of the overall increase.

John Gray, chairman of the Budget Committee, said he felt the review process had gone smoothly this year. The committee's final recommendations, he noted, were all unanimous.

"But," he said, "we always wish we could do more, especially with spending, because once you've captured it, you've got it forever."

The selectmen are expected to review the Budget Committee's recommendations at their regular meeting Monday evening, then make their own final recommendations to voters.

Winsor files for House seat

Realtor Tom Winsor of Norway announced last week that he is a candidate for the Maine State House from District 68.

"District 68 is newly formed and includes the towns of Waterford, Norway, Greenwood, and West Paris," said Winsor.

"I will be campaigning door-to-door throughout the district during this summer and fall. It will be a wonderful experience -- a time to renew old friendships, to make new ones, and to learn more about the needs and hopes of the people in the district. We have to work together to find ways to bring new jobs to the area and to keep the jobs already here from leaving."

Winsor, a Republican, lives with his family off the Greenwood Road in Norway. He is a manufactured housing dealer and real estate broker working out of offices in Bethel, Norway, and Locke Mills.

Man dies in single-car crash

Raymond A. Pinette, 54, of Bird Hill Road in Greenwood died Wednesday afternoon, April 6, after his truck left Route 26 and struck a tree. The accident occurred at approximately 1:30 p.m. near the Felt Road in Woodstock.

A tractor trailer driver following Pinette's pickup told police Pinette drove off the left side of Route 26 at about 45 miles per hour. There were no brake marks in the road, according to police. Pinette was hauling a car engine, which during the crash pinned him in the cab. It took rescue crews 90 minutes to extricate Pinette, police said.

Police are waiting for the medical examiner's report to help determine if the crash was due to a medical condition.

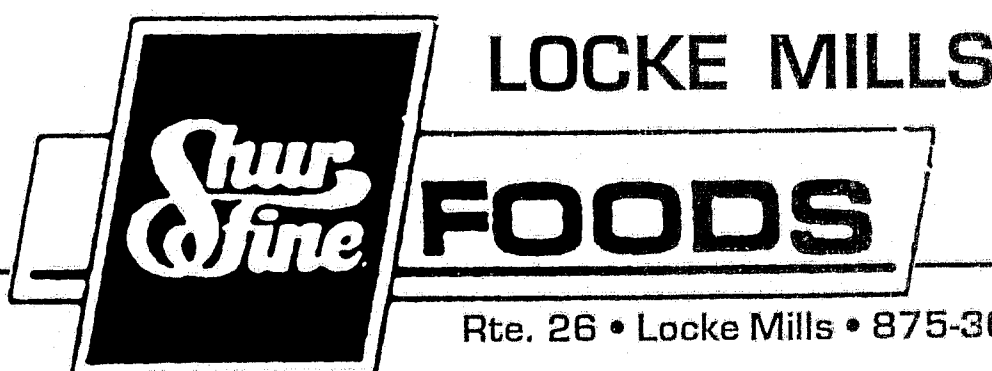

County and state police responded to the accident scene, along with the Woodstock and Paris fire departments and Tri-Town Rescue.

TELSTAR FBIA CLUB TRAVELS TO STATE CONFERENCE--On March 30 and 31, members of Telstar High School's Future Business Leader's of America club attended a two-day conference held at the Samoset Resort in Rockport. Attending were sitting (from left): Helde Koskela and Meredith White. Second row: Amy Patten, Jacki Provencher, Cheri Myers, Heather Harrison, Amy Taylor, Kelly Cronin, and adviser Jane Munn. Back row: Adviser Cheryl Lord, Lloyd Sweester, T.J. Stebbins, Wes Richardson, Jen Hurlbert and Robin Palmer. The students attended several workshops, tested their business knowledge, entered competitions and took time out for recreation. Two members of Telstar's FBIA chapter ran for a state office. Wes Richardson was elected state treasurer. Meredith White's bid for state president was unsuccessful. Telstar also won the award for the largest percentage of membership increase in a local chapter. Cheri Myers, Robin Palmer and Meredith White won awards in business law, economics and accounting testing. Several local businesses contributed to the chapter through the past year, which helped make the trip to the state convention possible. (Photo by Wendy Hanscom)

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Kindergarten registration needs to be done during the month of April. Please call the school if you have a child who will be entering school next year. Please tell anyone you know to do the same!

The last week of the ranking period found a variety of activities going on around the school. Bruce the Moose visited and presented a program on dental health to grades K-3. Thanks go to Bill Wood and his helper Bruce the Moose.

The first grade dyed Easter eggs with the help of volunteer Dottie Farrar, and they made little baskets in which to take their eggs home. The first-graders also presented a musical production, called "One Big Happy Family," to their parents. They gave an encore performance to the entire school during Friday's activity period. Bravo!

The second-graders are reading "Fairy Tales" and writing their own. They are working hard and having fun in music class. They are learning a square dancing. They are busy planting to get ready for the May Plant Sale.

Mr. Burke's third-graders presented the annual, fantastic "Castle Show." The displays were incredible, and the children were able to tell us a lot about what they have learned while studying this unit. Mr. Burke sends the reminder to watch for the West Paris show on Channel IV at 7 p.m. I believe that Wednesday is the day.

Mr. Litchfield's fourth-graders are enjoying Laura Ingalls Wilder's "Farmer Boy." In social studies they are studying the animals of the Southeast region. They are learning about the area of rectangles in math.

My fifth-graders are still busy preparing for our trip to Boston. We are preparing academically and financially. The candy bar sale is wrapping up, a bottle drive has been undertaken, and thanks to Tim Boutillier and son Shawn we are accepting donations on a raffle type item. Mr. Boutillier has offered a car reconditioning, wash, wax and thoroughly clean the car inside and out. The winner will be determined on April 27.

The sixth-graders are preparing a book of original poetry, and are writing science fiction stories. They are working hard on their computer skills, which is really exciting with our updated computer and programs. Their teacher, Mr. Koch, headed up our school team in the Bowling for Big Brothers and Big Sisters program. Those who did not bowl sponsored.

One more quarter to go -- work hard and enjoy.

YMCA GYMNASIAC CLASSES

Again this year the Oxford Hills YMCA will offer gymnastic classes for boys and girls in grades K-6 at the Telstar High School Gym.

Classes will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays, from 2 to 4 p.m., starting April 25. The fee for 10 classes is $35 for Y members and $40 for non-members.

Beginner to advanced skills are taught in tumbling, vaulting and on the balance beam. Instructor Donna Landry has been teaching gymnastics for 12 years and is also coach for the Oxford Hills Gymnastics Team. She will be assisted by gymnastic team members.

Class size is limited and there is also a minimum to run the program. All participants must be pre-registered. Payment plans and partial scholarships are available. For more information call the YMCA at 743-7184.

Augusta Roll Call Report

By STEVEN STYCOS

Each month while the Maine legislature is in session, the Augusta Roll Call Report will detail the key votes of our area's legislators during the previous month.

The Roll Call Report is intended to help voters decide whether how well their elected representatives are representing the people who elected them. The Citizen urges its readers to clip and save these reports and refer to them later this year when candidates for state representative and state senator are seeking votes.

The Roll Call Report is researched and written by investigative reporter Steven Stycos using official House of Representatives and Senate documents.

Action in the legislature quickened last month as the Senate and House of Representatives worked to meet their self-imposed March 31 deadline. They failed, but will finish this year's short session before the April 20 deadline established under state law.

Legislators left final action on the supplemental state budget, school funding and casino gambling for their final weeks.

Through March 31, 17 legislators had perfect attendance. On the other end of the scale, two Congressional candidates, Sen. John Baldacci (D-Penobscot) and Sen. Bonnie Titcomb (D-Cumberland) had the worst Senate attendance records voting on 54 percent and 60 percent of roll calls, respectively. In the House the worst attendance record belonged to Rep. Hilda Martin (D-Van Buren). Martin has been seriously ill and missed all 71 roll call votes. Also, Rep. Gerard Hillock (R-Gorham) was present for only three votes, and Rep. Leslie Kutasi (R-Bridgton) was present for only six, due to their jobs.

Some of March's major roll call votes are listed below.

Senate

1994 Attendance: Through March 31, there have been 101 roll call votes in the Senate. Listed is the percentage of roll call votes for which each senator was present. Senators who paired their votes, or were excused for absences (a rare event) have been counted as present.

Island Independence: March 2 vote on LD 1408, proposed by the State and Local Government Committee. The bill would have allowed Great Diamond, Little Diamond and Cushing Islands to secede from the City of Portland. Opponents argued state standards for seceding from a town should be established before the three islands are allowed to secede. The bill was defeated 11-22.

Kill Direct Election of Treasurer Bill: March 8 vote to kill LD 1893, sponsored by Sen. Pamela Cahill (R-Sagadahoc), to amend the state Constitution to elect the state treasurer by popular vote starting in 1998. The treasurer is currently elected by the legislature. Cahill said the bill would make the treasurer accountable to the public, but opponents said the current election process works and warned of the danger of the treasurer soliciting campaign contributions. The motion passed 21-13. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Kill Shorter Legislative Sessions Bill: March 22 vote to kill LD 1926, sponsored by Sen. Dana Hanley (R-Oxford), to shorten legislative sessions by about five weeks. Hanley said the measure would insure Maine keeps a citizen legislature by decreasing the time legislators are in Augusta and save more than $200,000. Opponents said legislative sessions are being shortened without changing the law, but longer sessions should be permitted if necessary. The motion passed 18-15. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Repeal Juice Box Ban: March 24 vote on LD 256, sponsored by Rep. Paul Jacques (D-Waterville), to repeal the state's ban on juice boxes. Proponents argued the boxes are recyclable, but opponents criticized the bill for failing to require recycling. An amendment to establish a three-cent-per-carton tax, if specific recycling goals were not met, was defeated. The bill passed 21-11.

Kill Open Court Records Bill: March 28 vote to kill LD 1369 by Sen. Gerard Conley, Jr. (D-Cumberland), to prohibit courts from sealing records in product liability cases. Records are commonly sealed as part of settlement agreements. Conley argued the bill would benefit public health by helping make dangerous products (like silicone breast implants and exploding Pinto gas tanks) more widely known. Opponents said the bill would reveal confidential company information and encourage fishing expeditions by attorneys. The motion passed 22-11. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Force Gubernatorial Appointments: March 24 vote on LD 1960, sponsored by Sen. John Cleveland (D-Auburn) to shut down professional regulatory boards if 20 percent of its seats are vacant for eight months. Cleveland says governors manipulate the boards (which regulate doctors, real estate agents, electricians and other professions) by not filling vacancies designated for representatives of certain interest groups. Once a board stops issuing licenses, he says, members of the profession will complain and force the governor to make appointments. Opponent Charles Begley (R-Lincoln) says the bill would permit the governor to discontinue regulatory boards by not making appointments. The bill was defeated 15-16.

Kill Income Tax Rollback Bill: March 29 vote to kill LD 1973, sponsored by Sen. Charles Summers (R-Cumberland) for Governor John McKernan, to freeze total income tax collections at the current level. Under the bill, as incomes rise, income tax rates would be decreased annually until they are lowered by 20 percent. McKernan says the cut will spur economic growth, but opponents say reducing state revenue will force cuts in aid to municipalities, forcing towns to raise property taxes. The motion passed 20-12. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Suspend Drug Dealers' Driver's Licenses: March 30 vote on LD 1393, sponsored by Sen. James Donnelly (R-Presque Isle), to permit courts to suspend the driver's license of a person convicted of using a motor vehicle to facilitate illegal drug dealing. Supporters said the measure gives judges another tool to punish drug dealers, but opponents said the bill was unlikely to deter crime and would prevent rehabilitated criminals from working upon release from jail. The bill was defeated 15-19.

House of Representatives

1994 Attendance: Through March 31, there have been 71 roll call votes in the House. Listed is the percentage of roll call votes for which each representative was present. Representatives who paired their votes, or were excused for absences (a rare event), have been counted as present.

Kill Bill Banning Electronic Video Machines: March 10 vote to kill LD 1679, sponsored by Rep. Harry True (R-Fryeburg), to ban electronic video games. Supporters said the games are frequently used illegally for gambling when bartenders pay, or cash out, players for points scored. Opponents said the bill would devastate social clubs, some of which donate the income from the games to charity. The motion passed 78-53. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Ban Paying for Petition Signatures: March 23 vote on LD 1931, sponsored by Rep. Marge Kilkelly (D-Wiscasset), to prohibit paying petition circulators for each signature collected. Proponents said the bill would correct some of the abuses of the recent term limits campaign. Opponents said the bill was unconstitutional and that salaried petition circulators tend to collect fewer signatures. The bill passed 123-17.

Repeal Juice Box Ban: March 23 vote on LD 256, sponsored by Rep. Paul Jacques (D-Waterville), to repeal the ban on juice boxes. Proponents argued the boxes are recyclable, but opponents criticized the bill for failing to require recycling. The bill passed 92-46.

Kill Bill to Revoke License for Gun at School: March 23 vote to kill LD 1863, sponsored by Rep. John Aliberti (D-Lewiston), to permit courts to suspend the driver's license of a person convicted of possessing a firearm on public school property. Aliberti says the bill is necessary because current penalties are not preventing guns at school and the threat of revoking licenses has worked to help the state collect child support payments. Rep. Beverly Daggett (D-Augusta) opposed the bill saying licenses should not be revoked for crimes unrelated to driving and license suspension has not kept drunk drivers off the roads. The motion passed 92-45. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Kill Bill to Suspend Drug Dealers' Driver's Licenses: March 24 vote to kill LD 1393, sponsored by Rep. James Donnelly (R-Presque Isle), to permit courts to suspend the driver's license of a person convicted of using a motor vehicle for illegal drug dealing. Supporters said the measure gives judges another tool to punish drug dealers, but opponents said the bill was unlikely to deter any crime and would prevent rehabilitated criminals from working upon release from jail. The motion failed 55-53. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Kill Recall Bill: March 24 vote to kill LD 1911, sponsored by Rep. William Lemke (D-Westbrook), to establish recall provisions in the state Constitution. Under the bill, citizens could force state or county officeholders to face a mid-term election by collecting the signatures of 35 percent of those who voted in the last election for that office. Lemke argued recall would help hold officeholders accountable, but opponents said that two-year term limits provide enough safeguards. The motion passed 84-57. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Kill Lt. Governor Bill: March 24 vote to kill LD 1936, sponsored by Rep. William Lemke (D-Westbrook), to amend the state Constitution to elect a lieutenant governor. Lemke said the change would insure that if the governor died, the replacement would be elected by the entire state (currently the governor is replaced by the president of the state Senate). Opponents said the office would be an unnecessary cost. The motion passed 97-43. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Kill Labeling Bill for Genetically Engineered Food: March 25 vote to kill LD 1928, sponsored by Sen. Bonnie Titcomb (D-Cumberland), to require labeling of genetically engineered food. Proponents argued the public has a right to know about artificially produced food. Opponents said consumers are already protected by the US Food and Drug Administration. The motion passed 84-51. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Kill Income Tax Rollback Bill: March 30 vote to kill LD 1973, sponsored by Sen. Charles Summers (R-Cumberland) for Governor John McKernan, to freeze total income tax collections at the current level. Under the bill, as incomes rise, income tax rates would be decreased annually until they are lowered by 20 percent. McKernan says the cut will spur economic growth, but opponents say reducing state revenue will force cuts in aid to municipalities, forcing towns to raise property taxes. The motion passed 93-45. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Your Obstetrical Team

Partners in Your Pregnancy Care...

Every woman's wants and needs are different. That's why our obstetrical team offers you individualized, state-of-the-art care and birthing options.

We want your birthing experience to be everything you expect it to be. So we put you in control by letting you make the decisions about the birth of your child. With our help, you'll make decisions about nutrition, exercise, choice of birthing positions, infant feeding, birth control after delivery and other concerns.

You choose who will be present at your delivery. How long you intend to stay. If you want your baby to stay in your room or spend some time in the nursery. Even minor details such as music and visiting hours are left up to you.

If you're expecting, or plan to have a family some day, our "Partners In Your Pregnancy Care" brochure can help you make informed choices.

For your copy, please call the AVH, Valley Birth Place at 603-752-2200 Ext. 361

4-H BOAT BUILDING CLUB

4-H, the youth development program of the University of Maine Cooperative Extension, will sponsor a boat building club. The club will begin in May and is focused on learning to build a sailing dingy. The club will be under the direction of Vincent George and Proctor Taylor of South Paris and is supported by a grant from the Pine Tree State 4-H Foundation, and material/expertise support from the SABRE Company of Casco. The club is appropriate for young people ages 10 and up.

The project will go from spring through summer and offer young people the opportunity to learn about sailing. For more information, contact Vincent George at 743-8174, or Susan Jennings at the Oxford County Extension Office at 743-6329 or 1-800-287-1482.

4-H DRIVING CLINIC

Tally-Ho 4-H Horse Club, with the support of the Pine Tree State 4-H Club Foundation, will hold a driving clinic for 4-H members nine years of age and up this spring.

Members of the club had expressed an interest in learning the fundamentals of driving, and with a creativity grant from the Pine Tree State 4-H Club Foundation, four sessions will be held this spring to start the process of learning how to drive. Members enrolled for this clinic are: Miranda Derenburger, Kylie Elliott, Keith Givens, Samantha Jack, Tessa Jack, Trisha Jack, Dawn Kirby, Jessica Linscott, Allen Robinson, Meredith Robinson and leader Kate Slattery. With the help of a video, driving book, handouts, and instruction by Gloria Hadley, the basics will get members started in the art of driving and encourage 4-H shows to include a driving class in their show. Members enrolled in this clinic will be notified shortly when the clinic dates will be.

Andover

By KAREN MCKAY

Family and friends of Andover Elementary students are invited to attend the curriculum fair to be held at the school on Thursday, April 14, at 6 p.m. Hoping all enjoy the upcoming week of vacation.

The Andover Olde Home Days committee has a theme for the August event, "Early Occupations in Andover." Plans are underway for the community flea market to be held on June 18, on the common from 9-3. Please contact Nancy Wardwell at 392-2131 for more information.

The Andover Parents and Teachers Group will meet every first Thursday of each month. The meetings will be held at the school at 6:30 p.m. All parents are urged to attend.

Winners of the Snow Valley Snow Goers weekly raffle have been chosen for the past five weeks. Two names are drawn weekly for a $25 prize. Week #1, Anna Blair and Betsy Fisher; Week #2, Debbie Parker and Darthey Wooster; Week #3, Rick Nokes and Ronie Craig; Week #4, Mark Paradis and Darrel Lowell; Week #5, Steve Swasey and Larry Cronin.

Get well wishes to Martha Cronin, who recently underwent surgery.

Newlyweds Earl and Marjorie Towne have recently purchased the Rebecca Marston house in East Andover.

A new cement flooring has been laid on the East Andover bridge.

M/Sgt. Robert Cuff has been discharged from the Army after 20 years of service. He spent nine years in Germany; four years in Italy and five months in Somalia. His wife Vicky and their two sons and a daughter were with him in Germany. During the past two years they had a home built on the Farmer's Hill Road. Vicky is the daughter of Jeanette and Wilbur Chenevix. The Cuffs also have a granddaughter.

Residents recently hospitalized were: Edna Smith, Richard Crowley, Elizabeth Sennett, Gertrude Hutchins and Edna White.

Laurence Cronin underwent major surgery at the Maine Medical Center last week.

A pre-Easter trip for Mr. and Mrs. Orville Meisner was to Windham to visit their daughter Diane and family. They traveled on to Gardner, Mass. Barbara Meisner joined three sisters, a daughter and granddaughter, and nieces at a baby shower for a daughter of Joy and Herschall Hall.

Richard Sullivan, Sayre, Pa., is renting a house in East Andover.

Franklin Grange 124 met on Monday, April 4, for a 6:30 supper and Past Masters and Past Lecturers Night. Presiding were: Master, Roberta Remy; Overseer, Russell Yates; Lecturer, Bernice Easter; Chaplain, Harry Boyer, Steward, Harris Hathaway, AS, Raymond Coleman; LAS, Marge Coleman; Ceres, Mary Lovejoy; Pomona, Loretta Hall; Flora, Leah Deegan; Treasurer, Lettie Brooks; Secretary, Wilma Day; Gate Keeper, Harold Canwell; Executive Committee, Johnny Howe and Kathleen McAlister; C.W.A., Alice Hoyt and Bertha Benoit; Pianist, Althea Fish. Forty members were present and 20 of them were past masters, and 18 had been lecturers.

The program was as follows: opening thought, Bernice Easter; opening song by all; reading on taxes, Anna Swan; skit, Joe Yates and Peggy Blake; Harry Boyer sang two songs. Anna held a candlelight service with 11 ladies helping. Bertha Benoit sang the "Lords Prayer" and did a beautiful job. The silent auction for the third grade at Woodstock School's "Kids for Trees" program gave them $25.05. The next meeting will be April 18, 7:30 p.m., and it is open house. The public is invited. The Community Service Award will be given.

News from Whitman Memorial Library -- A partial list of new books in the library so far this year: "Merry Men" by Carolyn Chute; "Footprints" by Margaret Fishback Powers; "Love can Build a Bridge" by Naomi Judd; "Wings of the Morning" by Karen Harper; "True Woman" by Janice Woods Windle. The library staff is planning to have a program once a month and will keep you posted on what age groups and activities will be offered. This month, on April 19, there is to be a program of stories and fun things to do for five- to eight-year-olds. The time is 2 to 4 p.m. Storm date will be April 21, same time.

The quarterly business meeting at the Baptist Church will be held on Tuesday, April 19.

The Woodstock Extension will meet on Wednesday, April 20, at the Town Annex at 1 p.m. with a tasting party. Wendy Legg Pollock will present a program on "Rhythms of Adulthood."

Curator Larry Billings has given a book on auctions, another on garage sales, and an art print to the Woodstock Historical Society. The society offers us the best it can. They encourage you to learn all you can about the achievement of Western Civilization. The society notes that the poet Robert Browning ended one of his poems simply, "Love is best." Also, the poet Edmund Spenser once wrote, "Joy and your gentle heart's content." What a nice blessing!

Sympathy is extended to the family of Loren McDonald, former owner of Mt. Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Estes. On Saturday they went to Lewiston with Burton to celebrate Victor Hathaway's birthday. Visitors have been Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Jordan.

There were 28 dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hoyt on Easter Sunday.

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

Blue skies smiling at me -- Nothing but blue skies do I see. A lilting refrain and a descriptive one, as I write this column on April 5. Outside, a chorus of bird songs fills the air, as red wing blackbirds "chee-chee" through the hedge rows, and splash in the muddy realms of the driveway. Both the hairy and downy woodpeckers are still feeding furiously upon the suet, however, and I glimpsed a pair of robins, flirtatiously gamboling about the apple trees. Last year, if it is indeed the same year, they nested and raised two families on the satellite dish. My husband added a little tin roof over the nest to keep out some of the hot rays of the sun and shelter them from rain storms. It will be interesting to observe whether the same situation arises again this year. As we are farther to the north than you, our Bethel neighbors, we are just beginning to see patches of brown upon the fields and by-ways. Days like today warm the earth, and gradually the seasons will change. We of the north must bear with patience, for we must not relent now. It's just around the corner -- the players are in place -- the curtain is about to rise. Then, what a spectacular performance will unfold itself in front of our very eyes. Enjoy each day to its fullest. God keep us and bless us, each and everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Morin of Andover (nee Belissa Corriveau), former residents of Gilead, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a baby boy at Stephens Memorial Hospital on April 5.

We wish to extend our sincerest sympathies and condolences to Maxine and Winona Corriveau, whose younger sister Judy passed away Easter morning.

Peggy Chapman of Brownfield spent two or three days at the home of her mother, Ellen Amadon, as Ellen has been having out-patient trips to S.M.H.

My daughter, Debby Cantelo, took me to Gorham the other day, where I had five teeth extracted. My comment: Aren't daughters wonderful -- we see them grow to womanhood -- what miracles and blessings God gives us -- amongst them all, Daughters.

My daughter Sandra and her husband, David Dean, of Norway surprised me with an afternoon visit recently. They brought with them a breath of spring.

Ponds and lakes are one of the landscape's most beautiful and expressive features. The trees next to the shores are their fringed eyelashes.

Our pond is not yet open on this fourth day of April. I'm waiting for the ducks to return. What a picture they make as they move along gracefully. It is always a thrill to watch them move about.

So many spring things to wait and watch for at this time of year. I especially like the first song sparrow singing. He is rightly named for he is the minstrel of the briar-patch, the most persistent singer of all the sparrows. He is modest and an unquenchable optimist. Nothing seems to discourage him.

My robin plays around, and just to see him hopping around brings joy.

I'm watching now for the geese to swing in carrying their clamor of "onk-onk." Coming after the long winter, their first call stirs the blood of any listener.

It's a pleasure to walk along the road and note the changes: the smell of spring, the chatter of squirrels and the young trees rising with branches of perfect symmetry, slim and graceful as a young girl.

I enjoy it all, and when the day ends there are long, horizontal colored banners in the west. Night's curtain is not so quickly drawn now; day meets night and fingers to display the brilliant colors for a few fleeting moments. Then a miniature cameo rises above the rim, shadows cover the land, the stars twinkle and laugh. These beautiful evenings, calm and free, sink down in tranquility. It's a season message. Look, listen, and enjoy!

Easter Sunday came with clouds and a cold wind but changed for the better.

Leonas and Fay Holt attended a birthday party for Lewis Woodworth. It was his 90th.

Ann and I had Easter dinner at the home of David, Sally and Mary in Norway.

Several of Rena Curtis' family were home on Easter: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Curtis Jr. of Norway, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Strait and Nick, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cogswell of Freeport. Each of her children brought her flowers and had dinner with her.

Mrs. Fran Piccirillo's mother has been with her for a week during her illness.

Milton and Eleanor Inman enjoyed Easter with several members of their family after attending the church sunrise services.

I saw two strange, huge birds on April 2. I saw them approaching, so I watched them closely. I went outside with my binoculars. As they flew directly over me, I noted that they were mostly black underneath but its flight-feathers were grayish. The tail was closed and rounded. The head looked flesh colored. Were they turkey vultures?

By ANDREA WING

I've finally seen my first robin. I mean robins, a whole flock of them showed up yesterday. I was glad as they are always a sign that spring is really here.

The snow is still around but the warm days and the rain we're having is taking it away pretty fast. I think we're all a little anxious for the good weather after the bad winter we had.

I was sorry to hear of the deaths of some of the persons that live not too far from us: Judy Billings, Ann Proctor and Ray Pinette. They all leave family and many friends and my sympathy goes out to all who knew them.

Marcia Morse called and wanted to know if I wanted to go shopping in Portland on Friday. It was early morning, and I reluctantly said I would. We had a marvelous time and I finally went to Levin's. What a large store! The clothes, however, are not really my style, but it was fun looking around. We finally got home late in the day. I took Marcia out to lunch on the way home to celebrate a belated birthday.

I visited with my brother and his wife, Phelps and Joan Poland, last Sunday night. They had recently been on a trip to Mobile, Ala., to visit with their daughter Joanna, and I wanted to hear about it. They missed all the bad storms and had a nice visit. They were gone about three weeks in all.

Beverly Stevens, my former boss, called me last night and said someone was at her house and wanted me to come down. What a surprise -- Laura Rand, a trainee in the Oxford County ASCS office was there to train for a month. Laura and I have been good friends and co-workers through the years, and we all had a very nice visit.

I called on my brother, Vernon Poland at the Ledgeview Nursing Home, the other evening. He wasn't feeling very well so I didn't stay very long.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society reports that he has given the society a small landscape painting. Larry also reports that the society tries to offer us useful information and interesting things to see. They hope you are involved with some group or project that benefits the area. There are many worthwhile activities.

The selectmen have held two meetings or workshops to discuss policy and appointments. Nearly all of last year's appointees were asked and accepted the position for another term. The snow banks have been pushed back and water drains dug out to prevent washout. At one of the meetings a representative of the Maine DEP explained policy and procedure concerning closing the dump.

Sight and sound of robins encourage hope even though the woodpile is still being chomped on steadily.

North Newry

By GIL SEELEY

Marcia Mator of Farmington paid a visit to her Uncle and Aunt Ras and Karlene Bachelder here in North Newry recently. She was Marcia Bachelder before her marriage.

Sylvia Wight had an eye operation last week, and things are looking up so far.

Karlene Bachelder and I went to the funeral service for "Blackie" Cummings on Saturday, April 2. It was nice to meet again with the relatives of "Boots" Morton, etc. there must have been over 100 people there. "God gave him quietness at last...I must sleep now!"

Karlene and Ras Bachelder, Robin Fraser and yours truly were guests for lunch at Lia, Luke and Keith Durgin's on Easter Sunday.

"Sixteen inches of snow fell at Eastport on April 9, 1917..."

Doris Parent, a member of the "Newry Bowling Gang," is back here in North Newry, after spending part of the winter in Florida, and resumed her bowling with the rest of them: Karlene Bachelder, Gil Seeley, and Bea Lowell last week at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford. Gil was high on the triples and singles on the left, and Doris was high on the singles and triples on the right. All went to lunch, and Pat Greig joined them there.

By SHANE BILLINGS

Finally, the snow is leaving and the days have grown longer. Jason Billings celebrated his birthday on Saturday and enjoyed dinner at Pizza Hut. On Sunday he went to see the movie "Mrs. Doubtfire" with his aunt, Louise Chapman.

Michelle McInnis also celebrated her birthday recently and enjoyed the company of her grandparents, Norma and Rob Davis. Norma and Rob celebrated Easter at their house with Christine and Ken, Carol and Dana.

Sue Silver and Lee Billings have been drawing sap from the trees outside; they collected four quarts over the weekend.

Emma Billings and Kara Andrews enjoyed an afternoon of playing in the rain and paid a visit to Jimmy and Lizzie Knights.

Kim Brown recently stayed home from school due to sickness. She was back today, however, and she seems well.

Dawn Davis came home for the Easter holiday.

My mother and I recently saw a deer running through a field near our house. We were extremely surprised, and it was a beautiful sight.

I hope that everyone is enjoying spring and the longer days. It seems nice to have the sun shine into the evening, and it is a sign that summer is on the way.

Hope springs eternal! The robins are back, the blackbirds and red wings and sparrows, too. The warm days, the light rain and fog have helped the snow disappear. I should

BANK DONATES TO PROJECT OPPORTUNITY--Bethel Savings Bank recently presented Project Opportunity with a $1,000 donation for its scholarship/grant program for Telstar High School students. Last year Project Opportunity awarded $9,000 in scholarships to the Telstar class of 1993. Project Opportunity also provides grant money for summer school at Gould Academy or Bates College, and day trips for future opportunities. Accepting the bank's recent donation were Telstar students Jodi Barnes (left) and Jennifer Bowie. say settle, as there is still plenty around.

I spent last week in Otisfield with the Bean-Turner family. Ethel drove me to Portland one day for a medical check-up. I drove to Rumford Monday for a blood test.

John Kalbs has returned to his home here after spending the winter in Florida. He reports a good winter there with temperatures ranging from 60 degrees to the 80s.

Kenny Newell has returned to Florida after spending a few days in this area.

Phyllis and Bill Bancroft enjoyed Easter Sunday dinner with her sister Alta and Bruce Smith at Lynchville.

Mrs. Agnes Lahti of Waterford visited her brother, Bill Bancroft, on Monday.

Easter Sunday visitors here were Bernie and Kasie Gatchell and Kaitly of Portland and Brandon and Tara Salway from Old Orchard Beach.

Mrs. Dottie Adams of Hanover was a caller here Tuesday evening.

Bill and Phyllis Bancroft, and Edwin and Dora Gardner of Stonham were in Lewiston on Thursday.

Spring has sprung -- winter's gone well -- the grass is green -- so I'm happier than usual.

High Street

West Paris

By RUSSELL YATES

Howdy, folks. This is rather a gray morning here on High Street, but at least it is still warm enough to melt some of the ice and snow, and it really pleases me to see the water run from melting snow. I've spent a lot of time working on snow and ice so that the warmer weather will melt it faster.

Last Monday, Peggy was back home quite early in the afternoon from doing her card work. She had wanted to go up to Franklin Grange Hall in Bryant Pond for the purpose of sweeping up the upper hall and the dining hall, so we took this opportunity to do that. It looked much better after a good sweeping.

Peggy went to the Laverden Drug Store in Bridgton on Tuesday morning. They were to do a revision of the card department there and she went to help, but they had enough help already so she returned here after an hour or two.

That afternoon, she drove to down street so that I could have physical therapy at the hospital unit in the basement of the Ripley Building.

That evening, we attended visiting hours for an old friend, Phil Des Roches, at the Greenleaf Funeral Home in Bethel. We knew Phil and his wife Eva real well. Eva has been in a nursing home for many years.

SCORE has 30 years of service

The Oxford Hills SCORE chapter of the Service Corps of Retired Executives, along with close to 400 other SCORE chapters across the country, will celebrate that organization's 30th anniversary with a concert by the Community Orchestra of the Portland Symphony.

Since 1964, SCORE volunteers have provided free counseling to anyone interested in opening a small business, or any small business owner who may be facing difficulties with the day-to-day operations. Last year SCORE chapters nationwide provided counseling and training to nearly 300,000 clients. Locally, almost 200 clients were guided by experienced, volunteers, retired executives at no cost in confidential counseling meetings.

The Oxford Hills SCORE chapter is located at 215 Main Street, Norway, and is one of nine chapters in Maine. For more information about receiving SCORE services, or volunteering for training as a SCORE counselor, call 743-0499 on weekday mornings.

SCORE is sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration.

How to avoid some common tax mistakes

With just two days to go before the April 15 filing deadline, the Internal Revenue Service has some advice to help people avoid errors it has seen on some of this year's early returns.

Some taxpayers are failing to report the tax on early distributions received from individual retirement arrangements or deferred compensation plans. If a distribution is not rolled over within 60 days, a 10 percent tax generally applies if the account holder is under age 59 and one-half. People who owe this tax must use Form 1040, not 1040A, listing it on line 51. The Form 1099-R reporting the early distribution payment should have code number "1" in box 7.

When itemizing deductions on Schedule A, people putting "other taxes" on line 7 must explain what type of tax it is, such as personal property tax. Some filers this year are omitting the description and just entering a deduction amount.

Some taxpayers who appear to owe self-employment tax are failing to include that tax on their returns. People who list self-employment income as "other income" on line 22 of Form 1040 should complete Schedule SE if their net profit was $400 or more.

Major IRS offices in Maine will be open until 6 p.m. through April 15. Toll free assistance can be obtained by calling 1-800-829-1040. This service is available weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

ASK A LAWYER

I am thinking about building a new home in the near future and have recently heard horror stories about "mechanic's liens"—what is a mechanic's lien?

A mechanic's lien, also called a materialmen's lien, allows suppliers of labor, materials or earthwork used in construction to "lien" property involved in the job. This "lien" gives the supplier a right to be paid when the property is sold. Liens most often arise out of construction contracts. Generally, a contractor agrees to construct or repair a building and the building owner agrees to pay the contractor for these services. The contractor may, in turn, agree to pay a subcontractor for performing part of the work or furnishing some materials. The contractor often expects to pay the subcontractor out of the money received from the owner.

If the owner fails to pay the contractor when work is completed, the contractor can sue the owner and attach a lien on the real estate. The mechanic's lien ensures that the contractor will receive proceeds from the sale of the property. The lien also allows the contractor to sell the real estate at auction and receive payment from the sale proceeds.

The subcontractor or supplier, like the contractor, also has the ability to lien property if he or she is not paid for labor and materials supplied to improve the property. This is true even if the owner has paid the contractor. Simply, if the contractor fails to pay the subcontractor or supplier, the latter cannot only sue the contractor, but by following certain procedures, the subcontractor can also have a lien on the real estate and have it sold by public auction.

The public policy supporting this provision is that if anyone should suffer from the contractor's default, it should be the owner. The owner is better able to choose and supervise a reliable contractor, and the owner received the benefit of the subcontractor's work and the supplier's materials.

Maine law provides that an owner will not have to pay twice for work performed on the owner's property, however. This protection does not apply if the owner has a separate contract with the subcontractor, or continues to make payments to the contractor after the subcontractor or supplier gives the owner a special lien notice or files a court action to enforce the mechanic's lien. Owners should choose reliable contractors and not pay the contractor without receiving periodic and final lien waivers. The lien waivers will verify to the owner that all subcontractors and suppliers have been paid. An owner may also obtain protection by giving subcontractors a notice that he or she will not be responsible for their payment.

Mechanic's lien laws have certain strict requirements, which vary widely from state to state. Generally, to obtain a mechanic's lien in Maine, the contractor, subcontractor, or supplier must: (1) File a proper sworn statement of facts about the construction project and the money owed in the Registry of Deeds within the proper time (not required for a contractor, required within 90 days of last date work performed or materials supplied for subcontractor or supplier); (2) File a lien-foreclosure suit in District or Superior Court within 180 days of date work last performed or materials supplied.

Rotary Club notes:

The Bethel Rotary Club met in the Bethel Inn on Tuesday, April 5, for breakfast.

Melinda Remington gave Rotary Information and reminded members of the club's history of facilitating youth exchanges with other countries. This year an exchange with young folks from Newry, Ireland is being organized by a group of local people. She explained the background and format.

The program was a Club Assembly, comprising details of the previous day's directors meeting. The secretary, treasurer, and service chairs all gave brief reports. The club secretary announced that attendance is hovering around the 90 percent mark.

President Nancy Harrison reminded members of upcoming dates: April 30, District Assembly; May 8, Mother's Day Brunch; June 18, Club Social to celebrate the club 20th anniversary; June 2-6; Group Study Exchange with Indian people.

She announced that recipients of the Dirigo Boys and Girls State awards are Tim Remington and Sarah Stowell.

The president closed the meeting by reminding members that the Bethel Inn is on "spring break" for a few weeks, so meetings will be held at the usual time at the Masonic Building.

TRACTOR SAFETY COURSE

Oxford County Cooperative Extension offer a tractor safety course on Saturdays, April 23 and May 7 from 8 to 12 a.m. and Saturday, May 14 from 8 to 10 a.m. at the Extension Office on Olson Road in South Paris.

Tractor safety certification is required for all students younger than 16 who wish to work off their home farm. In general, the course will cover basic tractor driving and implement hitching, basic farm safety and emergency procedures.

This material will be taught using videos and written material as well as through reading assignments and tractor driving. While the course has traditionally been geared toward adolescents, anyone interested in brushing up on farm safety and tractor driving skills is encouraged to participate. To register for the class or for further information, please call the office at 743-6329 or 1-800-287-1482.

FARM CREDIT DIRECTORS

At the Farm Credit of Southern Maine, ACA's March Annual Meeting, the stockholders reelected Robert Tetrault and Ronald Wing to its board of directors, each for a three-year term.

Robert Tetrault is in the commercial fishing business and is co-owner of the Marine Trade Center on the Portland Fish Pier.

Ronald Wing is the owner/operator of Lazy W Farms, Inc., a 200-cow holstein dairy farm in Industry.

The Farm Credit board of directors consist of seven members. Other board members are Seth Bradstreet, III, Newport; Robert Chadbourne, Bethel; Norris Conant, Canton; Samuel Davidson, Portland; Allaire Palmer, Cornish. Robert Chadbourne and Robert Tetrault were elected chairman and vice chairman of the board, respectively.

GOULD SKI ARCHER Quentin Stockwell prepares his time-tested weapon.

Ski-Arc logical choice for Gould archer-skier

By KIRK SIEGEL

Gould Academy junior Quentin Stockwell has found an up-and-coming sport that fits his temperament and background. The Watford resident recently entered his first ever Ski-Arc competition, an event that combines accuracy in archery with cross-country skiing speed.

The Gould Academy nordic team member placed fourth out of 25 entrants in the 2.5k novice race, which was offered as part of last month's National Ski-Arc Championships at Bretton Woods, N.H.

Like some of the other first-time ski archers at the event, Stockwell had past experience in archery from summer camp, and he has also competed in the kindred sport of biathlon. "I've done archery at camp for years, and I have my own recurve bow," he said. "This is a great sport."

The Ski-Arc Nationals at Bretton Woods used the resort's biathlon range, although only 18 rather than biathlon's 50 meters are required for the archery component.

Another contrast to biathlon is the sound of quietly swooshing arrows rather than the crack of .22 rounds. Otherwise the sports have a great deal in common, with missed targets directly affecting the competitor's total time.

Men shoot 12 targets during three shooting stages: two standing and one kneeling. Women shoot eight targets at two stages: one standing and one kneeling. The shooting stages are staggered between four kilometer skiing loops, so the cardiovascular demands of skiing make accurate shooting a definite challenge.

The best archer in the Nationals, San Thornhill of Evanstown, Wy., had nine out of 12 hits, giving him 75 arrow points, with the best possible arrow points being 100. The fastest skier is given 100 points, and all other racer's times are divided into the top ski time to give each his ski score, which is then added to the arrow score. A person who skied the fastest and hit all 12 arrows would have a score of 200, but given the demands of the sport this does not appear to be a frequent happening.

The novice race was abbreviated, with one shooting stage of three arrows, and a comparable scoring system. And unlike the National race, the novices did not have to carry their bows on their backs. Quentin Stockwell managed one of three hits, but as one of the fastest skiers managed to take fourth out of 25 ski-archers.

Ski-arc has roots that are historic—not to mention prehistoric. "The practice of shooting a bow and arrow while skiing dates back to prehistoric man," said Marcia Wyman of the New England School of Archery, which co-sponsored the Nationals this year, with archery equipment manufacturer Easton Aluminum.

Somewhat more recently—in 1206 A.D., to be precise—"Birkebeiner" warriors skied 55 kilometers through the Norwegian countryside with their bows and arrows to rescue a kidnapped prince.

Ski-Arc has had approximately 20 events in the United States this year and eight international events. According to Wyman, the sport is growing and a summer event is being discussed which would logically combine archery and running or mountain biking. Whatever the case, it is likely that Stockwell will take part if it's within a hundred miles from home.

Editor of Civil War letters to address historical society

Beverly H. Kallgren, co-editor of the book, "Dear Friend Anna, The Civil War Letters of a Common Soldier from Maine," will be the featured speaker at the spring meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies to be held on Saturday, April 16, at the Dr. Moses Mason House in Bethel, beginning at 1 p.m.

Kallgren will tell the unusual story of how these letters came into her possession, how the decision to publish them evolved, and the process involved in organizing them and obtaining a publisher. She will also summarize Abial Edwards' participation in the Civil War, highlighting some of the more dramatic incidents obtained from his letters.

The letters span the years from 1861 to 1866, during which time Edwards, a Casco native, served the Union Army as a member of the 10th Maine, and later after mustering out, returned to battle as a member of the 29th Maine. Throughout his enlistment, Edwards kept up a steady correspondence with Anna Lucinda Conant of Portland, his friend and eventual wife. She became his reason for living, although he survived the war free of rebel bullets and disease.

Edwards eventually attained the rank of corporal and saw action on many fronts. He relates to Anna his eye witness accounts of battles, the despair he feels at losing friends, and the horrors of war. He participated in the battle of Antietam, the Red River Campaign, and various military engagements in the Shenandoah River Valley.

The meeting will be open to anyone interested in attending. Copies of the book will be available for sale by the editor.

Railroad trip to be repeated

Due to the strong response to the April rare-mileage train excursion from Bethel, the Massachusetts Bay Railroad Enthusiasts repeat the trip on Saturday, May 7.

The train will travel through scenic mountains and quaint villages as it crosses northern New Hampshire, across the Connecticut River, and into the heart of Vermont's Northeast Kingdom.

The train will depart Bethel after boarding, at 9 a.m. and will stop at Gorham, N.H., to pick up passengers at approximately 9:45 a.m. After arriving at Norton, Vt., the train will retrace its path, with return to Bethel anticipated at 6 p.m.

A St. Lawrence & Atlantic diesel locomotive will pull the restored cars of the "Sunday River Silver Bullet Ski Express." Several stops have been planned at scenic locations to afford passengers photographs of the train and surrounding countryside.

Fares are $49 per person, adult or child. A box lunch will be included as part of the ticket price. Additional information is available by writing Mass Bay RRE, P.O. Box 1393, East Arlington, MA 02174-0022 or by calling 617-489-5277.

BARRINGER AT GROVE FARM

Candidate for governor Dick Barringer will hold a question and answer session on Monday, April 18 from 4:30 to 6 p.m. at the Grove Farm in Andover.

O'Brien again most Legendary

Stu O'Brien of Park City, Utah, bested a field of 15 freestyle skiing greats to win Sunday's Budweiser's Legends of Freestyle event at the Sunday River Ski Resort. In the amateur "Bust and Burn on White Heat" competition, 16-year-old Domenic Arsenault of Coaticook, Quebec beat a field of 115 competitors from across the United States and Canada to capture the 1994 championship.

The competitions featured head-to-head single elimination mogul skiing on Sunday River's steep, heavily moguled White Heat trail. Skiers were judged on turning ability, line through the moguls and the performance of at least two aerial maneuvers on each run. The winner of each heat advanced to the next round.

O'Brien bested Bob Salerno of Ogden, Utah, to win his third Legends of Freestyle championship. Salerno placed second overall. O'Brien also won the event in 1991 and 1993. Broadcast ski commentator and former freestyle skier Park Smalley, who was attending in order to host ESPN's telecast of the event, was invited to join the competition due to the absence of 1992 champion John Eaves, who was unable to attend this year's event due to a knee injury. To Smalley's surprise, he kept advancing through the ranks, finally finishing in third place.

In the amateur Bust and Burn category, Domenic Arsenault -- one of the most promising young freestyle competitors in the East -- rose through the ranks with a series of nearly flawless runs highlighted by multiple aerial maneuvers. In one of the most exciting runs of the day, Arsenault's final pairing placed him up against 21-year-old Doug Willet, Arsenault's coach on Sunday River's freestyle team. Arsenault's speed and aerial execution earned him the win and a huge embrace from Willet at the bottom of the course -- and both were quickly buried under an avalanche of jubilant teammates.

The annual Budweiser's Legends of Freestyle event draws competitors from across the US and Canada. Notable competitors include Wayne Wong, Scott Brooksbank and "Airborne" Eddie Ferguson, all of whom helped create the sport of freestyle skiing during the late '60s and early '70s. The Bust and Burn event showcases promising amateur freestyle skiers, as well as top finishers from the Bud Mogul Series and members of the highly successful Canadian World Cup Freestyle team.

Camp Sunday River

Registration materials and information are now available for the summer 1994 sessions of Camp Sunday River at Sunday River Ski Resort in Newry. We Need A Break!

We are celebrating our busiest winter season ever with a break in our normal dining and beverage service beginning Sunday, April 10 through May 12.

The Inn and Recreation Center will continue to be open for our members and guests during this time. Non-members may take advantage of our recreation center with outdoor heated pool for just $10 per person, per day! (Available 4/10 - 5/12)

Thanks to all who helped make the ski season so special:

- The 20,000 customers who stayed and dined with us since November.
- The dozens of suppliers who delivered their services on time at all hours for the comfort of our guests.
- The 100 employees who worked so hard to make our resort one of the finest in New England, and this a record setting season.
- The people of the Bethel area who make our guests feel so welcome in this wonderful part of the world.

Before we know it, we'll be cranking up again to full speed and looking forward to an outstanding golf season. Meanwhile, our reservations desk will be open throughout, busy booking for the summer.

Golfer's:

Sign up now for a complete country club membership and save on your next golf school program. We teach you more in two days than most learn in a lifetime at "one of the top ten golf resorts in the entire northeast"

Thanks again for a great winter and here's to a terrific summer season for all of us!

JOSHUA B. FOGG

FOGG RECEIVES MSSPA PRINCIPAL'S AWARD

Joshua B. Fogg of Locke Mills, a senior at Telstar Regional High School, has been selected to receive the 1994 Principal's Award, Principal Theodore Davis announced last week.

The award, sponsored by the Maine Secondary School Principals' Association, is given in recognition of a high school senior's academic achievement and citizenship.

The MSSPA recognizes these outstanding students with the presentation of an individual plaque and the selection of the Horace P. McGowan Scholarship recipient. The $1,000 McGowan Scholarship is given by the MSSPA in honor of the association's past executive director and will be presented by Mrs. McGowan.

Newry teen to receive Legion citizenship medal

The Jackson-Silver American Legion Post will bestow its Citizenship Medal next week on Patrick Moore, 17, of Newry.

The medal will be presented in recognition of Moore's rescue of a South Paris man whose clothes caught fire in his Paris garage in January.

On Jan. 30, Moore and his mother were driving past Carl Bisbee's home on Elm Hill when they spotted the man trailing flames as he crawled away from his burning garage with his clothing on fire.

Moore took a blanket thrown to him by Bisbee's wife from a patio on the home and smothered the flames. Post officials said Moore's heroic and successful attempt to smother the flames on 73-year-old Bisbee exemplify the qualities of citizenship for which the organization stands.

The presentation ceremony will be held on April 21 at the Legion hall on the Gore Road in Locke Mills.

Moore is a junior at Telstar Regional High School, and is currently attending the NOVA program in Rumford.

He is the son of Susan Brown and the late Stanley Moore Sr.

CHERYL P. MYERS

MYERS IS GOOD CITIZEN

Cheryl P. Myers, daughter of Wilbur and Vicky Myers of Bethel, and a senior at Telstar High School, is this year's recipient of the Good Citizen's award from the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution.

The school faculty selects three senior girls for candidacy and the senior class chooses the school's good citizen.

The senior chosen for this honor must have demonstrated in an outstanding manner the qualities of service, dependability, leadership, and patriotism in their home, school, and community. She also must complete an essay, under the supervision of a faculty member, entitled "My American Heritage and My Responsibility to Preserve It."

Obituaries

BARBARA S. HEATH

Barbara S. Heath, 64, of the Merrill Hill Road, Greene, died Saturday morning, April 9, 1994, at her home after a lingering illness.

She was born at West Minot, Dec. 15, 1929, the daughter of William and Doris (Richardson) Slattery. She was educated in West Paris schools and taught piano from her home for many years. She was also employed as a salesperson at The Bible Book Store in Auburn. She was married on Aug. 7, 1948, to Erwin Heath. Mrs. Heath was a member of East Auburn Baptist Church, where she served as musical director for many years and taught Sunday school. Mrs. Heath was active for many years in the L/A Community Little Theater and was also active in The Christian Women's Club. She was well-known in the Lewiston and Auburn area for her musical talents.

Mrs. Heath is survived by her husband, Erwin Heath of Greene; her mother and father of West Paris; three daughters, Mrs. Dennis (Bonnie) Bodlien of Temperance, Mich., Mrs. Robert (Holly) Nepote of Safety Harbor, Fla., and Nancy Blier of Harrison; one son, Darryl Heath of Auburn, and seven grandchildren. She was predeceased by a brother, Commander Francis Slattery. Funeral services were held April 12 at East Auburn Baptist Church. Those desiring may make contributions to the American Cancer Society, 52 Federal Street, Brunswick, ME 04011.

RAYMOND A. PINETTE

Raymond A. Pinette, 54, died Wednesday, April 6, 1994, on Route 26 in Bryant Pond from injuries sustained in an auto accident.

He was born in Berlin, N.H., Nov. 7, 1939, the son of Adelard and Doris Fortier Pinette. He was educated in Berlin schools. He worked at Boise Cascade for 31 years in the salvage department. Mr. Pinette was a member of Our Lady of the Snows Church in Bethel and also of Guardian Angel Church in Berlin. He lived in Bryant Pond for many years, coming from Berlin.

Mr. Pinette is survived by his father of Berlin; two sons, Raymond D. Pinette of Bryant Pond and Ronnie Pinette; and a companion, Jennie Cole.

A committal service will be held later in the spring. In lieu of flowers, those who wish may make contributions in his memory to Tri-Town Rescue, P.O. Box 275, West Paris, ME 04289.

Smoking leading cause of fire deaths

The Maine State Fire Marshal's Office says careless disposal of smoking materials has been the leading cause of fatal fires in Maine for the past two years and is the cause of 50 percent of the fatal fires, so far, during 1994. Fire Marshal Dennis Lundstedt said the state's numbers are similar to national statistics, which show lighted tobacco products are responsible for more fire deaths than any other cause.

Lundstedt said smoking has been the cause of three of the six fatal fires in Maine during 1994, killing four people. Those fires were in Augusta, Madawaska and Ellsworth. He said his fire investigators determined that eight of the 22 fatal fires during 1993 were caused by smoking, resulting in eight fatalities. Lundstedt said the 1992 statistics show 11 of 21 fatal fires by the same cause, resulting in 14 dead.

"Over the past 27 months, 26 people have died in Maine from smoking-related fires and each one was a tragedy easily preventable," Lundstedt said.

The State Fire Marshal's Office recommends the following fire prevention tips for households with smokers:

- Don't smoke when medicated or sleepy and never in bed;
- Use deep, sturdy ashtrays and empty them frequently, always dousing the ashes with water before discarding;
- Check upholstery for smoldering cigarettes before leaving home or going to sleep; and
- Keep all smoking materials, matches and lighters out of sight and reach of children.

The Fire Marshal's Office said the 1993 fatal fires caused by smoking were in Milo, Gray, Wells, South Portland, Portland, Lincoln, Houlton and Wiscasset.

The 1992 smoking-related fatalities were in Brownfield, North Turner, Kittery (3 dead), South Bristol, Cushing, Gorham, Belfast (2 dead), Fort Fairfield, Gardiner, Orland and Milo.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The theme for this year's Molloycock Day, to be held on July 16, will be "Bethel in July." Also, the Bethel Memorial V.F.W. Post 11363 will be organizing the parade again this year. Any suggestions or inputs about the parade can be mailed to: P.O. Box 496, Bethel, ME 04217-0496.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words comfort and hope for your daily life.

Many of us have favorite scriptures. Those we turn to, or reflect in our minds on numerous occasions.

There are also those special stories that the scriptures tell us.

To most of us I am certain that Luke's account of Christ's birth is one, others come during the last days of His life here on earth: the story of His triumph, when He entered Jerusalem on that Sunday morning, of His last night before His crucifixion, the last supper with His disciples, the agony in the garden of Gethsemane, the rejection and trial, the suffering and shame on calvary's cross -- then the mixed emotions brought out by His resurrection from the tomb as He became victorious over death.

Even with good faith, we little wonder that Nicodemus asked of him, "How can these be?" when Christ answered his question of, "How can one be born again?"

We wonder many times at the power of God, His works and promised salvation.

In short, Christ's answer was that man must accept Christ as the Son of God and our Saviour.

When we wonder about such things we should also think of Christ's answer to his disciples when they asked of him, "Who then can be saved?"

To this Christ answered: "With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible."

There are a lot of questions, a lot of whys. "Why must Christ die?" He answers that "Except a corn of wheat fall to the ground and die; it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit."

Why did God cause Him such suffering? To pay the debt for man's sins. Why for sinful man? "For God so loved the world, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

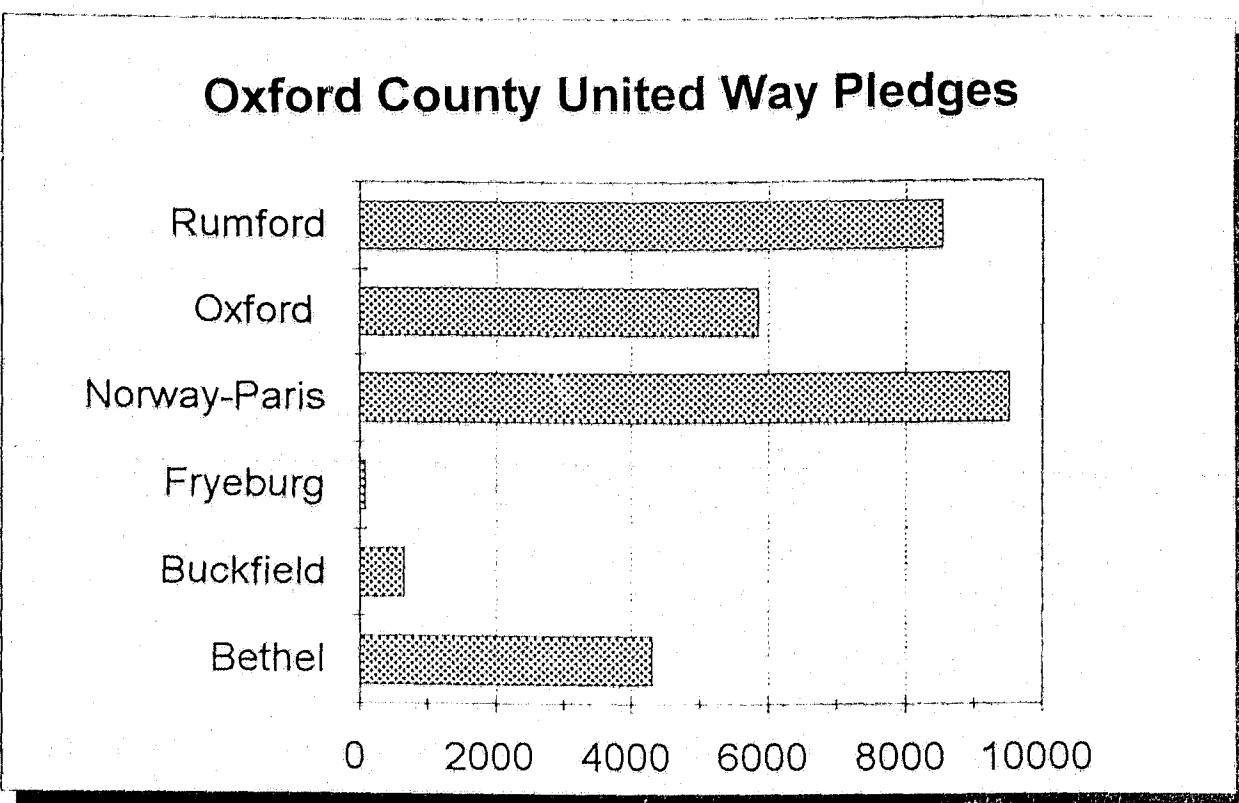

Don't dwell on the whys, believe on the word. "For by faith ye are saved."

LOCAL UNITED WAY CONTRIBUTIONS--The United Way of Oxford County closed its 1993 campaign on March 31 after achieving 94 percent of its goal of $70,000. Pledges reached a total of $65,622 -- 17 percent over the 1992 campaign. On April 8 a final campaign report was mailed to all identifiable contributors participating in the 1993 fund raising effort. The report included an overview of campaign pledging, list of contributors and a report of United Way disbursements in 1993. Oxford County residents, employees and businesses pledged nearly $29,000 directly to the county United Way. Pledges from the various areas of the county are shown in the graph above.

OCSWCD report dedicated to Robert Hastings

The Annual Report of the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District has been dedicated to Robert D. Hastings of Bethel, who died at the end of 1992.

Hastings' involvement with conservation went back to before the birth of Oxford County SWCD. He was an avid supporter of conservation work, especially in forestry.

He served on the ASCS county committee from 1939-45, 1950-53, and on the community committee from 1952-62. Oxford County SWCD was organized in 1946.

He signed up as a cooperator on May 10, 1948. His cooperative agreement was number 100. Shortly after that he became a supervisor in 1949 and served for 12 years until 1961. He was secretary from 1956-61.

In the early days of the conservation district, he would travel around the county and go from meeting to meeting promoting conservation practices, especially in forestry.

His wife, Florence, remembers him always carrying around pamphlets to promote and speak about conservation practices. "Bob wouldn't cut a tree unless it was marked." He was involved in many things and conservation was one thing that he really believed in.

Sumner Burgess, former Maine Forest Service forester and Boise forester, remembers Bob as one of the "early mentors" of farm forestry.

"He was always pushing conservation and was a very faithful attendee." He introduced Sumner to many of his neighbors.

The Hastings' farm consists of 200 acres of rich alluvial bottom land on the Androscoggin River in East Bethel and 350 acres of woodlands.

In his early years of farming Hastings was noted for his Green Mountain potatoes and also maintained a dairy herd. When he was joined by his son, Warren "Sonny" their farm switched its emphasis to a quality dairy operation.

Over the years the farm has implemented a wide variety of conservation practices and is a model for farm management. In the early 1960s the farm was recognized as the Cooperator of the Year.

Hastings was active in many local organizations, including the Alder River Grange, Bethel Savings Bank, and the Bethel Historical Society.
